

You Play, Schools Win: El Sol Academy After-School Programming Transcript

[Panoramic view of children's playground displays with a California Lottery logo and text that says "California Lottery Education"]

[Kids playing soccer and other kids playing instruments]

Monique Daviss the Executive Director of El Sol Academy says:

"Funds from the California Lottery allow us to provide additional hours to our afterschool staff so that they can build and develop relationships during the day."

[Panoramic shot of a teacher reading the kids in her class while the kids are sitting and listening]

Wanda Ramirez, 2nd Grade Teacher from El Sol Academy says:

"We're a dual immersion school, so we serve most of the Santa Ana population, and a lot of the people that come to our school are Spanish speakers."

[Children dancing in cultural Hispanic dress appear]

[Kids are jumping rope on the playground]

Monique Daviss the Executive Director of El Sol Academy says:

"If we didn't have the funding from the California Lottery, we wouldn't be able to provide instructors with additional hours so that they could build the relationships that are the central piece to learning and growing."

They provide a lot of different types of instruction for students.”

[Children appear on screen singing into a microphone while other play instruments]

Wanda Ramirez, 2nd Grade Teacher from El Sol Academy says:

“We have the rock band, basketball even baile folkorico.

They want to come to the afterschool program,
they want to stay in school.

Thank you to the California Lottery for providing resources to make the programs that we're so proud of available to the students and the families here at El Sol.”

[Orange screens displays with California Lottery logo and text that says “You Play, Schools Win]

California Lottery.

You play, schools win.