Big Jackpots Fuel Big Wins for California Public Schools

Big Powerball and Mega Millions prizes fuel sales. Eighty cents from every Powerball ticket and approximately two dollars from every Mega Millions game sold goes to help fund public education programs from kindergarten to university. Since the last time the Powerball jackpot was won in September, over $70 million has been generated for public schools in California from Powerball sales alone. These funds support classroom resources, technology upgrades, and career training. The California Lottery provides an interactive map on their website at calottery.com/who-benefits, along with current financial reports. There are also videos highlighting the use of supplemental funds to benefit students in California public schools on the website and the official California Lottery YouTube page.

The mission of the California Lottery is to raise additional funding for public education, helping to supplement school budgets for K-12 as well as colleges and universities. The California Lottery has raised more than $48 billion for public schools through the responsible sale of its games since 1985. Lottery funding for schools is largely discretionary, so administrators and educators can use Lottery money for instructional programs and services they may not otherwise afford. The California Lottery features eight draw games and dozens of new instant Scratchers games each year. More than 95% of California Lottery sales revenue goes back to the community in the form of prize payments, retailer commissions and bonuses, and contributions to education. More information about who benefits can be found here. As jackpots rise, the California Lottery would like to remind players that gambling should be fun. Borrowing money to play, spending above a person's budget, or using money intended for other purposes can ultimately lead to significant problems for players and their families. If a player recognizes that they have a gambling problem or if someone knows of someone who may have a problem, the Lottery recommends calling the California Problem Gambling Help Line at 1-800-GAMBLER.
